Supplemental Educational Services Provider Information

TO: New Jersey Supplemental Educational Services Providers

FROM: Isaac Bryant, Assistant Commissioner
Division of Student Services

SUBJECT: FYI - Supplemental Educational Services Provider ID Numbers for the 2003-2004 School Year

The No Child Left Behind (NCLB) legislation requires states to annually monitor the effectiveness of approved supplemental educational services (SES) providers, ensuring they are effectively raising the academic achievement of eligible students in New Jersey. Part of New Jersey's monitoring process includes tracking the academic performance of SES served students, using the state assessments in mathematics and language arts.

To facilitate this SES tracking, approved providers have been assigned ID numbers ranging from 01 to 87 (see attached list). Each district will code the ID numbers on the state assessment answer sheets of those students receiving supplemental educational services. The test scores of these students will then be analyzed to determine the effectiveness of the SES providers in raising student achievement.

The department is sending a memo to Chief School Administrators informing them of this process along with a copy of the provider ID list. A copy of that letter and the provider ID list are also posted on the NJ Department of Education's Web site at www.nj.gov/njded/title1.
